

I want to learn in the way which I think is best , following my heart and my instincts , and not isolated in a shoe box , far away from everyone's everyday life.

I want to learn like a hitchhiker, gratefully appreciating what comes , adaptably changing my language , sniffing the tastes of many different wor

I want to create a rounded picture out of all the fractal jigsaw puzzle pieces the world keeps throwing to my feet, and show this picture to others.

I want to learn like a fire dance , travelling from one event to another, one place to another,
one being to another,
teacher to teacher to teacher...

Discovering new things in every corner , collecting inspiration , celebrating life.
I want to integrate all the tips and tricks I gather to my own, individual-virtuous style .

And create something new, unique, inimitable from all the things I learn from others.
Something I can share again with others, something to give to all the students to students to students who are watching.

I don't want to HAVE knowledge, don't want to collect knowledge, I want to BECOME the knowledge I fin

