With many dreams and project-ideas in my mind, projects which were emerging, I travelled with Mandus to Beneficio, where the Skillsurfers were living at that moment.

Dirasound Festival

An encounter which enriched my biggest project - an alternative Music festival in northern Spain- with fresh ideas. Giving to the becoming festival more deepness, sense and power to change.

I brimmed over with enthusiasm for the TsoLife, for the skill sharing, for the boundless possibilities of changing the world bit by bit! Surrounded by activists and dreamers I suddenly didn't feel alone any more with my big dream. The dream of creating an innovative Festival in northern Spain (where I grew up).

A festival in which not "partying" but an active exchange among different generations, culture and the love to Mother Earth takes centre stage.

In Beneficio I also got to know Luraya, my soulmate which supported me non-stop with the organisation and building of the festival.

Talks with Anja and many others contributed to the maturing of the project, thanks to the input of many ideas, experiences and recommendations.

The primarily alternative music festival turned little by little into an ecologic Skillsharing- as an attraction bait

Festival, with great concerts and for a nice ambient.

A festival with which we can bring something about, with which we can change something! and divulged!
